InterNACHI, the International Association of Certified Home Inspectors, is the world's largest inspection trade association. Based in the United States, InterNACHI is both non-profit and federally tax-exempt, and operates in 65 different countries and nine languages. It is the inspection industry's largest provider of education and training.

Members of InterNACHI adhere to strict membership and Continuing Education requirements. Other associations have little or no entrance requirements and encourage their unqualified members to perform hundreds of inspections.

InterNACHI members are highly trained and receive support, education and training throughout their careers so that they can give their clients the outstanding professional service they deserve.

As a member of InterNACHI, you will have access to hundreds of free benefits, as well as free online education that is self-paced and reflects the latest and best practices in the home inspection industry. These courses have earned more than 600 approvals and accreditations. The online exams and quizzes have been taken more than 3 million times. Online, video and classroom courses provide successful students/inspectors with Certificates of Completion and state Continuing Education approval for licensing purposes.
