

It Costs Plenty to be a Non-Member

The insurance industry has been cautiously watching the home inspection industry for years. These insurance companies have a lot at risk. They weren't going to give just any association an exclusive discount. Of course I can brag about NACHI members all day long, but having a global, best rated insurance company bet on NACHI with their own money... well that says everything about NACHI. I am very proud that insurance actuaries have finally come to conclude what I've known all along: NACHI members and only NACHI members deserve to pay much less because NACHI members are the best home inspectors in the world.
