

Welcome to the Home Inspection Event of the Millennium!

Over 2,500 inspectors, 92 exhibitors, 40 speakers, education galore, free nachos, one heck of a good time!

May 17 - 19, 2007,
Toronto Congress Centre

Dear: REALTOR

As you are aware, our industries are forever tied together and constantly changing. Furthermore, we share common clients (homebuyers). I have always been committed to not only keeping up with my profession... but staying ahead of it for the benefit of our clients.

I'll be attending the National Association of Certified Home Inspector's (NACHI's) national continuing education convention in Toronto, Canada from May 17-19, 2007, and I'm inviting you to stop by as my guest.

NACHI's convention is the inspection event of the year with 92 exhibitors and over 40 different speakers. Many of these exhibits and speakers have a direct connection to your real estate business (dispute resolution, WDO, inspection report generation, marketing, mold, business coaching, safety, etc). I encourage you to attend as my guest, at no charge. More information is available at www.nachi.org.

Not all inspectors are the same. You and your clients are poorly served by a home inspector who misses major defects that exist, or worse... an inspector who finds defects that don't exist. My commitment to continuing education results in a better on-site experience for our shared clients and a more accurate report for you to work with. Please let me know if you can join me in May and I will add your name to the convention guest list.

Sincerely,

Allan Spisak, Owner-General Manager
