

InterNACHI Chapter Meeting

April 13th, 2010 7:00 P.M. Sharp.

Attention Members:

Tom D'Agostino of Kimmel Plumbing & Heating Services Will Be Speaking On Residential Heating & Air Conditioning Systems.

Kimmel serves the Colorado Denver Metro and Eagle / Summit County Mountain Communities with quality, trusted, plumbing and heating service. The technicians at Kimmel are experienced in the repair and replacement of all major brands of Plumbing and Heating fixtures and equipment as well as Air Conditioning and Drain Cleaning needs. They specialize in all types of problems from heating and plumbing system installation to repair of burst pipes, dishwasher leaks, blocked drains and leaking faucets.

Tom will address code requirements for all heating/cooling systems, combustible air supplies and what to look for in heating/cooling systems to help you evaluate and determine if the system is serviceable during your inspection.

Tom D'Agostino

Vice President,
General Manager of Operations

Tom D'Agostino brings with him over 40 years experience in the plumbing and heating fields having been raised in a family business in the Kansas City area. He brings with him not only the strong skills of the trades but also a strong work ethic and business sense. His BSBA degree in Accounting helped him develop his business sense. He built his own successful Mechanical company in Vail, Colorado which he later sold to a national consolidator. He has won several awards as the leading contractor within his peer group of highly competitive companies on a national scale and authored several articles in trade magazines.

His goal in the mechanical contracting business world is to help his customers solve their plumbing and heating problems and develop a customer or friend for life. Many of his employees have tracked him down years later just to say hello and to keep in touch. He feels that one of the most important goals as a business manager is developing a strong working team of individuals who takes pride in their work and strive for customer satisfaction.
