Your request for course approval was reviewed by the Education Committee, and final approval was granted by the Delaware Real Estate Commission as follows:

Course Title: Saving Home Energy for Real Estate Agents

Credit Hours: 3

Approved for Module(s): 7

Restrictions (if any):

This course certification is valid for 2 calendar years, expiring on December 6, 2020, provided the course is conducted by the same sponsor/provider, the curriculum and course length remain as approved and certified instructors are utilized.

Reminder:

Each course must include a mandatory question and answer and/or course review.

Course certifications cannot be renewed automatically. Sponsors/Providers must reapply by the course expiration date and before conducting further courses. You must adhere to the "Education Guidelines" published on the Commission's web site at www.dpr.delaware.gov in offering this course for credit. Failure to comply with the Guidelines will automatically suspend the approval of this course or educational activity.

PLEASE NOTE THE FOLLOWING CHANGES EFFECTIVE ON 5/1/2018

- Multiple modules offered for a 3-hour course: If a 3-hour course is approved for more than one module, you should only advertise the course for one of the modules for which it was approved. For example, if a 3-hour class is approved for module 5 or 6, you should only advertise for module 5 or 6, not both 5 and 6. Further, the certificate must clearly state that course has satisfied only one of the modules. The course provider will have discretion to determine before the course offering which of the approved modules the course will satisfy.
- Multiple modules offered for more than a 3-hour course: If a course, longer than 3 hours is approved for multiple modules, a student must complete the entire course to earn any of the credits offered. For example, if a course is approved for 6 credit hours, then a student must complete all 6 hours of the course in order to earn any credit for the approved modules. If a student only attends 3 hours, they do not receive any credit. The certificate will show the modules for which the course was approved.
